

Αγγλική Γλώσσα στη Διεθνή Πολιτική και τη Διεθνή Οικονομική Επιστήμη-Δεξιότητες προφορικής παρουσίασης ΕΞΑΜΗΝΟ 3^ο

End of term exam course materials

1. G.V.Diamantis, (2013) English for World Politics & International Relations, Faidimos publications.

Kenneth Waltz-Foreign Relations Expert
Part One: Basic Concepts in World Politics	Part Two: Basic Concepts in Law, Politics and Economy : Citizenship
a. Politics vs. Policy	Part Three: Structures and Systems in Politics, Law and Economy
b. Democracy
c. U.K. vs. U.S Constitution and Government	Party Elections & Separation of Powers
d. Left-Right- the Conventional Spectrum	Suggested further reading: Heywood, A. Politics . Palgrave-Macmillan 2007
e. Civil Society
f. Feminism
g. Meritocracy
h. Consent
i. Social Democracy
j. British Politics- the Political System in the U.K

2. G.V.Diamantis, (2008) English for Academic Discussion Classes, Stamoulis publications,

A: i. Hints and Techniques for Enhancing Fluency and Efficiency in Spoken Academic Communication

ii. The Role of Discussion Gambits in making clear and well-supported assertions

B:

1. Global Poverty –Overseas Aid to Developing Countries
2. Democracy- What is its Future? Do Students Trust Governments?
3. Immigration-Economic Migrants and Xenophobia
4. World-Global Terrorism
5. Addictions- Alcohol and Drug Control- Substance and process addictions
6. Women’s Liberation-the Feminist Movement
7. Talking about Great National Figures
8. The Role of Religion in International Relations: Secular vs. Theocratic States
9. Euthanasia-Mercy Killing- a Criminal Offence or an Act of Love or Compassion?
10. The Birth of FYROM’s Appellation Saga. The so called “Name Issue”.

Course Assessment

1. End of term Exam
2. Optional Course Assignment, Class performance and participation

Students are reminded that they are not entitled to sit for the 3rd , 4th, 5th, and 7th semester end of term exams unless they have successfully completed their English language modules in semesters 1 and 2

